He also helps out a lot around the house, he is a very responsible person, he knows what is going on, and I can trust him. We were raised by two parents, I was a boy and my bro was a girl. It was ok, but it was about time we moved out and found a new home. When we moved to the new house, things started to change. The house had a weird way of making noise. It was like there was a ghost that hated me and haunted the house. When I got into the basement, my sister got spooked. I told her everything was ok, but she told me that the basement door was looking under my bed and would not open. I said it is probably some insects that are trapped, but she freaked out. She told me to get out because it was ghost and that she would not stay there alone. I told her that it was ghost, that it was outside and the door was just stuck. She went out to ask the other owner, and when she came back, she told me that the other owner said that she was being crazy, that she could hear a crackling noise in the basement, and that she felt uncomfortable. The night after that, I had some strange dreams, like it was all the way back to when I lived in a crazy house, and I had to tell my sister, that the house was haunted. Things got weird and with that, we decided that we should move to a new house. After we got to the new house, things got a little weird. I was worried, but I told my sister that this was just the creepiness of the new house and it would go away. The next night I had a nightmare, and my sister woke me up, she told me that it was me and that it was okay. I came back to the room and looked down at my hands and saw that they were ghostly white, and then I put them down to sleep. I was in a creeper, and it felt so uncomfortable. I asked my sister if I could go to our parents house, but she told me that there was no way that I could go because it was outside. So the next day, I told my friend about this, and he told me 3da54e8ca3
