Your search stops here! Yes, I'm talking to you about this green smoothie that's not only packed with protein but also with nutrition. There are so many recipes out there but not all of them are healthy. What is a green smoothie? Well, in a green smoothie we use all kinds of fruits and vegetables. We try to add some fiber and protein in the mix as well. Healthy Green Smoothie The typical green smoothie is made from bananas, pineapple, kale, spinach, cucumber, apples, and blueberries. We have added an avocado to the mix for this time. So, this time I took on the spinach, kale, cucumber, blueberries and avocado, along with some berries and leaves of romaine lettuce. To enhance the flavor of the drink, we added fresh lime juice, honey, bananas, frozen strawberries, an apple, and some nuts. The resulting drink tastes terrific with no calorie count and is the most refreshing and healthy version of a typical smoothie. Before adding in the greens we did some mixing and blending to avoid all the little chunks that we sometimes get when we use the blender. So, in this smoothie we got avocado and spinach together to avoid getting avocado chunks in our smoothies. Preparing some of the ingredients You can get the same effect by firstly cutting up the avocado and then blending the remaining ingredients. Add all the ingredients in a blender In a few seconds you will get an amazing fresh and healthy smoothie. The key to success is in the choo-choo song. First, we add it all into a blender, then we go and listen to it whilst it does its magic. Blueberries, bananas, lettuce, protein
