Menu Free Skin Care: 5 Superfoods to Protect Your Skin March 29, 2017 Whether you're trying to achieve deep, hydrated skin that is primed for makeup or getting out of the beauty skincare rut and trying something new and organic, keeping your skin healthy is one of the best ways to keep your skin beautiful. Do you want to get the most out of your skin care routine and protect your skin from the elements? While we can't promise you your skin will be flawless, we can promise you that these few superfoods will make sure your skin looks and feels healthy. And let's face it, who doesn't want a healthy glowing and radiant skin year-round? 1. Avocado Now, you don't have to have a baking dish to enjoy avocados. The fatty texture that this fruit has makes it a great skin food. It's rich in oleic acid and phytosterols which are antioxidants that can keep your skin hydrated while protecting it from UV damage. 2. Blueberries Although it may seem like a dying breed, blueberries actually hold a wealth of antioxidants that can help keep your skin healthy, like vitamin C and bioflavonoids. They also contain high levels of manganese which is an essential mineral that is important for healthy skin. 3. Broccoli Broccoli, in both its green and orange varieties, are rich in vitamin K which is necessary for healthy collagen production. Broccoli is also high in folic acid which is essential for healthy cell development and vitamins C, D, and E which can protect the skin from UV damage and diseases. 4. Eggs Good old 595f342e71
