Dong Maanyao – Alibaba Group's 6th highest paid CEO in 2016 A $550 million bonus was paid to the head of China's largest ecommerce company in April. It's the biggest bonus paid out to any executive in the country's history. Dong Maanyao was paid the bonus after Alibaba's net profits grew 155% to $12.6 billion in the January-March period. It's thought that Mr. Maanyao was hoping to receive more bonuses after Alibaba reported a 172% increase in first-quarter revenue. Alibaba's other top executives have received $550 million bonuses this year – making Alibaba the largest in China by the amount of cash distributed. Did Alibaba's shareholders approve of this generous payout to its CEO? Alibaba's shareholders pushed down Mr. Maanyao's performance-based bonus by almost 2 million yuan – or about $350,000. Mr. Maanyao's performance-based bonus will be redistributed among his team, and he may get a lump sum for his talents. Alibaba's shareholders also knocked down the share price by 50%, and this has been attributed to a number of factors. First of all, the company was the victim of a massive cyber attack in November, which hit the websites of Taobao and Tmall, and got Alibaba's system offline for five days. During the attack, hackers stole a lot of personal information, including Chinese citizen's personal details. The breach affected 20 million customers and a few days after the attack, Mr. Maanyao was paid a reward for identifying the hackers. In addition, China's central bank said that it will not loosen its controls over the country' aa67ecbc25
